Miss Monahan Says She Was Unaware of Loan at Time Paper Was Given Her

Developments came rapidly today in connection with the $500,000 suit brought against the directors of the Comopolit Trust Company by Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen, who alleges gross negligence and willful violation of banking laws are sought to recover for the creditors.

WAGE INCREASE

AUG. 15.—The employees of Worcester Railway and an increase of pay for conductors, motormen and barnmen would be granted by the city council if the car crews now receive an hour, an increase from one-half of last year.

The representatives of the railroad men had a conference at Framingham this morning.

RIVER IS FINED

AUG. 15.—The money he says was wasted.

Chief among these developments were:

—Miss Anna A. Monahan, a secretary named on the Commonwealth's complaint against $7,000, denies that she ever got the money. She says she signed a paper at the request of Assistant State Mitchell to get her the money accepted it.

—President Mitchell of the Commonwealth says "I can remember" Miss Monahan's name.

THREE MEN, HELD IN NATION-WIDE "MURDER RING," CONFESS

ROLLS HER OWN! Miss Edith Harrington, 811 Centre St., Newton, who won honors as "Miss Back Bay," achieves more distinction as a winner of the Sea Beauty Contest. Will she please call for her check? More awards of $5 await New England sea nymphs. The contest closes on Aug. 25. Entrants are asked to be patient about returned photographs. Every one will be returned as soon as possible. Address Pictorial Editor.

PAINTED UP! Referring to the dress, not the model, at the left. A fat, rather than a fashion, is the painting of costumes with decorative figures in oil. This gown of black tulle. (U. & U.)

COME BACK! Miss Edith Harrington of Boston, who defeated Eleanor Sears, has moved another step toward the championship at Forest Hills. Snapped during a lively moment in the Sears match. (Int.)

MARY AND DOUG (including his new mustache) are about to splash at their Beverly Hills swimming pool. Bala over one Mary in a bathing suit below! Isn't she cute? Has the boys all defly. (K. & H.)

HOW COME, LADIES? Charles F. Champlin (above), who defeated 48 women in a broad baling contest at the Evanston (Ill.) County Fair. Don't look too much, is his warning to housewives. (K.)

WHOOPS, MY DEAR! Here is one of those fellows (right) who just date on wearing their (excuse us while we blush) pajamas on the streets or in restaurants. It's the latest fall there. Garments are of silk. Watch for them on Tremont Street soon. (K. & H.)

TWINKLE TOES! Miss Alice Eldridge, the diving queen, shown above, is a bewitching pose, is daily practicing for her exhibition to be given at the Boston American's swimming carnival, Aug. 27 at the Charles River Basin. Are you entered? At least don't fail to see the big race. Finest swimmers will compete. (U. & U.)

FROM THE LAND OF THE BULL! Andre Bala, Spanish middleweight, who will challenge Georges Carpentier for world title, the match to take place in Madrid. He'd better speak to Johnny Wilson first, or Bryan Downey. (K.)

DOWNING ADVERSITY! Rapid strides has been made by Germany since the war in the training of crippled children. This armless boy has been taught to use his toes as skillfully as his hands. (U. & U.)

BY THEIR LIPS SHALL YE KNOW THEM! Study the English language by the shape of the lips in conversation. That's the latest method, just out into practice at the University College. Claim language can be taught entirely as it is spoken with colloquial idiom. Photo and diagram shows Japanese students using mirror to observe how lips shape when saying the word "where." (K. & H.)

HAIL, HAIL, ETC.: Are they downhearted? As that famous statesman, Patrick Henry, once said: "I'll tell the world they're not." Although the sleep Galliano, entered in the Sir Thomas Lipton sleep race at Santa Barbara, Cal., was disqualified, the crew is chuck full of jess. (Int.)

MRS. SYDIA WIRT SPECKLES, divorced wife of the late John D. Speckles of huge fame, is rushing from Paris to assert her claim to the estate. Sensational charges were made during the divorce trial. (Int.)

LORD BYNG, the famous "biff, bang, Byng" of war days, is shown inspecting the guard of honor on his arrival in Quebec to take office as the new Governor-General of Canada. Lord Byng, who succeeds Lord Darnley, was given a warm reception by the Dominionists. (U. & U.)

NELLA BERGEN opens show and the fourth wife of Dr. Wolf Hopper, left an estate of $54,816.22 when she died on April 24. (U. & U.)

HELD AS MURDER TRUST! Confessions have been wrung from three of these men by the plotting them in a series of murders in the United States. The American branch of the order, it is believed, carried out orders for killings received from the parent organization. Boston is among the cities in which the Camorra has left its skeleton imprint. The arrest of these five men in New York resulted from information supplied by a member, a self-confessed snitch. The two men in the rear on the left and eight are detectives. (Int.)

PHILADELPHIA SPRINGS DRY REGULATIONS

Bootleggers Engage Openly in Illicit Sales Despite Seal
of Dry Agents

(This is the sixth of a series of special articles exposing the physically nationwide operations of the bootlegging "ring." It will be followed by four others.)

W. B. SEABROOK,
International Service Staff Correspondent

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 19. — The prohibition situation here and throughout most of Pennsylvania presents a startling illustration of the fact that no law can be effectively enforced in a given locality without the weight of strength of public sentiment behind it. The prohibition enforcement forces here are either stupid, or inefficient, or both. The bootlegging forces here are either stupid, or inefficient, or both. The bootlegging forces here are either stupid, or inefficient, or both.

The Pennsylvania State police—famous as the best in the world, with the exception of the Canadian Mounted Police—are co-operating efficiently. Mayor J. Hampton Moore and the city police here appear to be doing what they can.

Yet the prohibition laws are being widely violated in this territory as in every place in the whole United States, with the possible exception of Atlantic City, Jersey City and Greater New York.

The answer is that very large masses of the Pennsylvania people are indifferent, suspicious and in some cases actively hostile to prohibition enforcement. "Today in the city of Philadelphia," says the International Service Staff Correspondent, "there are 1,200,000 people. Not all of them are violating the law. Some are selling only soft drinks and non-intoxicating beer. But a very large percentage of them are bootleggers. They are not willing to be caught. If they did they would be easy to catch. Some of them are caught and convicted. But the majority continue to operate, supported by their own more or less private clientele."

Illicit stills are widely scattered throughout the city. Police agents seized and destroyed sixty-three of them last night.

Wholesale dealers are also flagrantly violating the law. Numbers of them are operating under "normal" licenses, with government sanction to sell liquor for non-beverage purposes in drug stores, restaurants, etc. Some of them are combining their efforts to the illicit, lawful business the revenue authorities. Others are using it as a cloak for sales to bootleggers.

A smaller and more desperate criminal element is obtaining bootlegged whiskey and alcohol by robbery and violence. Five times within the last few months a big Federal storehouse here was broken into and large quantities of liquor stolen.

There is still the whiskey on sale here in either "mommy" or liquor discreetly obtained by wholesalers and peddled by bootleggers. When bootleggers are caught, they are usually fined, or imprisoned for a few months, or both. But when they are not caught, they are not punished.

Booting prices here average 10 cents a single drink and from 15 to 25 cents a quart.

Jeanville, Director McConnell, fully convinced that a great element among the people of this city is actively engaged in the dissemination of propaganda designed to arouse sentiment against the enforcement of the law.

Anti-prohibition literature, colored photographs and cartoons are being widely circulated.

Most of the actual violations of the law here are foreign born. For some strange reason, where retail bootlegging is concerned, the foreign born discover interesting general lines of radical demagogues (makers of the illicit liquor) are in the majority.

Among these who claim their traffic under "normal" permits as makers of tonic, perfume, hair cream, etc., Italian, Portuguese, and others are prominent. Actual peddling, with retail buying and selling, is largely done by a certain type of Jews who come from the East.

Outside Philadelphia, probably the worst bootlegging territory in Pennsylvania is the attractive western region around Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre, Pottsville and Schuylkill. Here, large foreign populations, consisting principally of Poles, Slovaks, Czechs and Hungarians, are in a reprehensible majority. Many of them do not speak or write English.

Bootleggers operating among them read a rich harvest. All sorts of arguments are used to persuade them that the most hardened American drinker would not care to swallow. Find ready sale among these miners. Grade alcohol mixed with water and—discreetly—take in make and produce a freight-free, in every sense of the word, bootlegged liquor.

THEY DO NOT CARE. In many parts of the State, on farms and in rural communities, bootleggers are operating stills. Only a few days ago when the baby was an apparently respectable place in the Washington, Pa., neighborhood, more than 2,000 quarts of moonshine whiskey were discovered hidden beneath the stage wheels.

The exposure of the violation raises the question of why the Federal prohibition bureau is not more effective in stamping it out.

In its last analysis, the condition in Pennsylvania, bad as it is, is not a reflection upon the prohibition law, but a reflection upon the people of Pennsylvania. The criminal bootlegging has gone on in Pennsylvania because the people of Pennsylvania have allowed it to go on. When the public decides that

Fresh From Paris

PARIS, ILLINOIS.

The latest season tailleur and coat command first attention when one turns to town, and Paris solves the problem most successfully in its two latests shown above. A tailleur of black serge plaited in its skirt is both smart and practical, the sleeves being long and a bit wider at the wrist and the skirt longer and somewhat fuller than those we have just laid aside. Black cire black—since Paris is braiding us very generously this season.

A perfectly plain coat is a valuable adjunct to the Autumn wardrobe. It is late in the season it makes an admirable background for whatever it may be decided upon. The model sketched at the right, of plain colored cashmere, is generally charming, having a high, turned-over collar suitable to varying winds, wide sleeves deeply cuffed in self fabric, and skirt lined at a low waistline showing a single pleat over each hip.

AMERICAN FREE BARES VIGIL IN RED DEATH CELL

New York Man Awaited Ex-

Months in Russia

By International News Service
Riga, Aug. 19.—Nathaniel Kalanaitis, of New York, who lived in the shadow of death in Soviet prisons for more than a year and a half and who came out of Russia last week, with five other Americans, Americans, arrived today from Riga with a story of adventure more wonderful than fiction.

Kalanaitis told of lonely night vigils in his death cell listening to the crackling rifles of firing squads outside his cell; of how men died bravely facing their executioners; of living on half a pound of bread daily, never knowing when it would be his turn to die.

"I am a graduate of the University of Chicago, class of 1914," he said, "and I was an officer in the American Expeditionary Force in France. I was captured by the Germans in 1918 and I was in a German prison for 18 months. I was then released and I came to Russia in 1920. CLOTHES FOR WEEK-END

—By Rita Stuyvenant—

If you plan to take a long motor trip, compromise clothes that will be comfortable and will not irritate your skin. Khaki suits is ideal for men, but if you expect to stop at a lot of places, a light-colored sport hat will be a better choice. You can wear your leisure costume.

House parties for the week-end are more fun when you have a few easy dress for evening occasions. A sport skirt and several sweaters will serve for day dress and a light frock for dinner wear. Just now there is a great deal of black and white dress and a frock of this would be appropriate for informal dinner parties in the late Summer.

Light frocks, such as orchid or pink, are popular and are becoming, may be entered in any pastel shade except yellow. A dress of this color with a gray or marling blue.

Light frocks, such as orchid georgette or perhaps organza if acceptable, are popular in every pastel shade. White "Cotton creeps" are also popular.

Be sure to take a wrap with you for cool evenings and to cover your light frocks if you go to the beach. You may want to wear a waist-piece dress and take it off when you get home, and have to carry a top coat too. For the dressy may be worn during the summer months.
